South Boston High School Cadets Marching in Big Parade To-day

3,000 SCHOOL BOYS IN ANNUAL PARADE

With as many in line that they do, the South Boston High School Cadets, three thousand strong, marched on their forty-third annual parade through Boston streets today and were reviewed by Governor Dwyer, Mayor Fitzgerald, visiting representatives of the Argentine Republic and the Boston School Committee.

The blue-jacketed and white-trousered boys were reviewed informally, but with enthusiasm, by thousands of admiring school girls. The girls cheered the boys shrilly and clapped hands till their palms were pink.

Thousands of citizens passed by windows or along the sidewalks at the splendor of the parade and admired the many things made by the cadets of Boston.

March Like Regulars.

Stimulated by this continuous audience of schoolmates and elders, the boys marched like veterans, keeping precise step, wheezing corners and executing maneuvers most creditably.

In addition to the parade being led by the boys, the marching band, composed of the most musical and the most military spirit of the city, was also present.

Thomas Aron Fitzgerald, son of Mayor Fitzgerald, and one of the color guard for the South Boston High School, was the first son of a Boston Mayor to march in a city school parade. He was reviewed by his own father as chief of the parade.

No lunch was taken this year. The boys started earlier and the line of march and the exercises on the Common were shortened, allowing disbanding at noon.

The parade was reviewed by a number of the school committees as presented.

Run Short of Guns.

Four hundred out of the 3,000 cadets were unarmed. The boys in the Boston Latin High School and South Boston High School last fall was such that there were not enough guns to go around. The school members of the battalions turned out for the parade, however, with all the equipment of the military.

The boys were divided into the line of march of the parade, representing the various regiments of the army and navy. The officers carried rifles.

The parade started at 9:30 from the English High School on Cambridge street and took the following route: School Street, Washington, School, Tremont, South, and State to the State House and back.

The line was headed by a platoon of mounted police under Sergeant George Sullivan. The parade was followed by the band, the officers, the cadets, and the members of the school committees.

CITIZENS APPOSES R. T. TIFT

WASHINGTON, May 27.—Stung by the criticism of his traveling expenses made yesterday by Democrats, President Tift today sent to Representative Lawrence, chairman of the House Appropriations Committee, a letter expressing his dissent. The suggested reduction of his expenses, he said, was "a reflection on his loyalty."

The letter is as follows:

"I am deeply grieved over the phase which the discussion of the appropriation for the traveling expenses of the President has assumed. I think it is a legitimate expression in favor of the President's expenses. It is a reflection on his loyalty. It is a reflection on his loyalty. It is a reflection on his loyalty."

FRANCIS M. CARROLL IS NEW FIRE HEAD

Mayor Fitzgerald accepted the resignation of Fire Commissioner Samuel D. Parker this afternoon and designated Francis M. Carroll as acting fire commissioner at $5,000 a year.

Attorney Carroll, who has law office in the Kimball building, at No. 18 Tremont street, accepted the acting commission on the telephone. He had declined a month ago to be considered as a candidate for the post.

The Mayor, under the law, can fill vacancy for head of a city department by designating the head of any other department. Carroll was not chairman of the board of the fire department, but he was a member of the board. The Mayor secured an opinion from Corporation Counsel Beland that all members of unpaid boards are in reality heads of departments. The fire department was without action. The Mayor named Attorney Carroll as acting fire commissioner.

Praises Work of Parker.

The Mayor's appointment of Attorney Carroll as acting fire commissioner was scheduled to take effect immediately. In accepting the resignation of Fire Commissioner Parker, the Mayor informed him of the appointment of Attorney Carroll as his successor.

Young Bank Wrecker, Under Cross-Examination, Tells of Dissipations in New York That Cost Large Sums.

Following the pitiless probing of the gay life of George W. Coleman in New York and Boston while he was being cross-examined today in the trial of "Big Bill" Keller, charged with helping Coleman wreck the Cambridge National City Bank, there was a sharp verbal clash between Lawyer Daniel H. Coakley, of counsel for Keller, and United States District Attorney French, in which they almost exchanged "the shorter and uglier word."

SPIRITED CLASH BETWEEN TWO ATTORNEYS.

The trial is being conducted before Judge Chamberlain and a jury in the United States District Court in the Post office building. The witness was satisfactorily cross-examined. Coakley had been talking Coleman with barred eyes as to what he had told to his lawyer, the police, the newspaper, the Suffolk County Grand Jury and others about the wrecking of the bank, and Coleman had fallen back a great many times on the cry: "I don't remember."

Mr. French objected to further questioning about what Coleman had said before the Suffolk County Grand Jury. Coakley said that the grand jury had completed its case.

"That is not true," declared Mr. French. "It is not true. I don't know that he told me anything."

"I don't know that he told me anything," declared Mr. French. "I don't know that he told me anything."

FAIL TO FIND BURGLAR, SHOT IN POLICE HUNT

The police of the City Point police station, who were sent over this morning in a launch by Captain Wentworth to search George's Island for burglars, returned this afternoon disappointed.

One of the burglars who was wounded in a scuffle with a police officer, was shot in the back of the head by a police officer. The police officer was shot in the back of the head by a police officer.

More Admissions by Coleman.

Mr. Coakley tried to get Mr. French to ask a question of George Coleman. Mr. French refused to do so.

STACY HALL IS DEAD, AGED 90

Stacy Hall, known as the dean of the New England bar, who has occupied a seat in the United States Supreme Court since 1861, died at his home, 100 West 10th street, New York, N. Y., at the age of 90. He was the son of the late Judge Stacy Hall, who was the first Chief Justice of the State of New York. He was a member of the New York bar for 40 years, and was one of the most prominent lawyers of his time. He was also a member of the New York State Bar Association, and was one of the founders of the New York State Bar Association. UNITARIAN CLASH OVER SOCIALISM

We are informed that the Boston Unitarian churches are to be closed against the use of the pulpit on Sunday next. This would not be surprising, for it will be remembered that the Boston Unitarian churches were closed to talks on socialism, I am not a Socialist, for Socialism is orthodox, and I will not subscribe to orthodoxy of any kind, but I am a believer in the principles and doctrine of Socialism. Rev. John Rogers, minister of the Second Church, Unitarian, says: "You must remember you are holding a meeting in a Unitarian church. As for the meeting of next Sunday night the only criticism I have heard of it was that it was not in good taste and the speakers did not show good manners. The friends attending the church were the guests of a churchman, Thomas Van Ness, minister in Mr. Rogers of the Second Church, Unitarian."

ROOSEVELT LIKES ENGLISH FOOTBALL

I wish that we Americans could learn from Cambridge how to make football less homicidal. OFFICERS AND MEN ON SUNKEN SUBMARINE GIVEN UP FOR LOST

PARIS, May 27.—A dispatch from Calcutta, received this afternoon at the Ministry of Marine, says that there is no prospect that any of the twenty-seven men on the sunken submarine Pluton are alive. The dispatch was immediately sent to President Fallieres.

The dispatch said that the submarine was believed to have been struck so that the accommodations were smashed, liberating gases which proved fatal to the crew. The rising of petrol from the Pluton was taken to indicate that the fuel tanks were burst, but it was declared possible that the crew might have let it out to prevent the rising gas.

A hawser was attached by divers to the submarine Pluton into this afternoon. The wrecked craft then lay in seventy-two feet of water in the path of a terrible current. The Pluton, according to the minister of marine, was evidently struck in the upper part of the hull, and the water level above water before she went down.

Like Other Fatal Accident. It was in this manner that the submarine Pluton sank off Bona, Tunis, on October 16, 1906, when fifteen lives were lost—the greatest previous number in the long list of French submarine accidents. Among the victims was the young son of the president, who was the only one of the crew who was alive when the wreck was raised. The wreck was raised by the French navy working to raise the Pluton. EVERYBODY TO-NIGHT MAY SEE COMET

Thousands of Bostonians will tonight look for Haley's comet in the Western sky, their appetite for the celestial wanderer whetted by the sight last night, when for the first time since it became an evening visitor it appeared in full vision.

For three hours crowds in the streets, on the Southside, and on the ferries and boats in Boston harbor, gazed at the strange light in the heavens. It was not very bright. The comet, or head of the comet, was about as bright as an ordinary star and just as brilliant as the planet Jupiter, which outshines it at this season of the year.

The tail of the comet is no longer differentiated. It is like a streamer cloud, a greenish-blue, and through, empty, which the comet's natural light is reflected brilliantly. The length of the tail will be the most astonishing part of the whole sight to those who see it tonight in the sky. At one end, barely visible, it now is millions of miles long, stretching to the heavens all the way to Jupiter, the brilliant evening star.

It was expected that it would be extremely bright, but it will, in fact, be a disappointment. Professor W. H. Loomis, long known for his comet work, has declared that there was a possibility that the comet might not be so brilliant as was expected because of the light coming from the sun. The continuous process of making tails, the comet may be seen in the sky, but it will not be as bright as was expected.

FRESHMEN AT BROWN CAUGHT IN THIEF TRAP

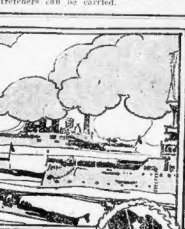

PROVIDENCE, May 27.—Edward Leo Kenney of Pawtucket, Mass., and Lydon Russell Story of Pawtucket, Mass., members of the Brown University freshmen class, have been expelled, charged with theft from their fellow students.

Kenney was detected by means of an electrical trap and a student was caught by an electrical trap and a student was caught by an electrical trap.

The news of their expulsion and the cause thereof was a shock to the student body, and especially to the freshmen class, of which both were popular members. Kenney and Story were working their way through college. They were popular, stood well in their classes and were prominent candidates for athletic honors.

Several years ago a student was caught by an electrical trap in a somewhat similar manner. The trap, which detected the student, was set in the room of the freshman class. A class at the locker end of the wire was connected to the pocket of a student. The student was caught in the trap, and the class at the locker end of the wire was connected to the pocket of a student.
